EASTERN DATES TO MAY 23.

THE CIVIL WAR IN FRANCE.

More Fighting—Indecisive Results.

LONDON, May 21.—Dispatches from Versailles say that three formidable breaching batteries, mounted on slope Mont Valerein, opened fire on the ramparts of the Auteuil quarter. The Government troops are all ready to storm the city. A violent cannonade was kept up Saturday night.

Dispatches from Paris report that all attacks by the Versailles troops Friday and Saturday were repulsed. There was heavy fighting yesterday west and southwest. According to the Communists report it had no important result. Officers of Montmartre battery claim that they dismounted the guns of the Versailliats at Gennevilliers.

The inhabitants of Malakoff and villages near Vaugrard and Montrouge are flying from their dwellings.

PARIS, May. 21—Evening.—The Federalists have abandoned their positions at Malakoff, Petit Vanves and Grande Montrouge. The Government troops surround Fort Montrouge, which only maintains communication with Paris by subterranean passages. Federal forces are entering the towns in great disorder. Shells are falling in Montrouge. The inhabitants are terror-stricken and many have been killed.

Versailliats Enter Paris.

VERSAILLES, May 21—Evening.—The Versailles forces entered Paris at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The entrance was effected at two points, the gate of St. Cloud near Pont du Jour and the gate of Montrouge on Boulevard Brune. The insurgents have abandoned the ramparts.

PARIS, May 21.—The Versailliats have not attempted an assault on the south. A terrible bombardment sweeps the ramparts. The Federalists are making desperate efforts to repair and protect gates.

General Cecrilio has returned to Paris. The only Generals outside the walls are Dombrowski who is in Bois de Boulogne, near Porte de la Muette, and Wroblowski, who is making a stand at Gentilly. The Versailliats attacked and captured part of the latter.

The suburbs of Auteuil and Passy are subject to violent bombardment. Auteuil gate has been abandoned by the Federalists, whose outposts have fallen back inside the city.

Great Advantages Gained by Government Troops.

VERSAILLES, May 21.—A circular from Thiers officially confirms the entrance of troops into Paris. It says the gate of St. Cloud having been battered down, Gen. Douay rushed in. Gens. L'Admirault and Clinchamps are preparing to follow.

Since the issue of the above circular good news is received. Douay's men hold their positions inside St. Cloud gate, where they have cut telegraph wires connecting with other portions of the enciente.

A flag of truce was hoisted at Auteuil gate. Two regiments entered there, and proceeded beyond the viaduct of the circular railway, meeting with no great resistance.

Gen. Cisey reports that Malakoff and Fort Montrouge have been abandoned by the insurgents and will soon be occupied by his command, but the batteries on the ramparts opposite are still firing.

There is panic in Paris. It is said Pyatt, Grousett and other rebel leaders have disappeared.

Dispatch from Vienna.

VIENNA, May 21.—The Committee of the Reichrath have agreed upon an address to the throne pronouncing the ministerial policy of concession to the nationalities a failure and an encouragement to malcontents, and demanding a strong state of organization.

Dispatch from Madrid.

MADRID, May 20.—The Government will propose in its next budget that the effective force of the army be fixed at 80,000.

Other European News.

LISBON, May 20.—Disconsions have broken out between the Government and the Chamber of Deputies.

BUCHAREST, May 20.—The party of order has triumphed in the elections. The Government is sure of a majority in the next Chamber.

WASHINGTON CITY.

General News.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The French Minister has obtained leave of his Government to return to France. De Bellen, who arrived here some days ago, will act as charge d'affaires.

Prominent Senators say the debate on the pending treaty has been conducted with perfect fairness, and that none of their fellow members have shown the least disposition to delay unnecessarily the final action upon it. The treaty has been considered in Committee of the Whole and was yesterday reported to the Senate. To-morrow several amendments will be offered, but Senators are represented as saying that no alterations will be made. An effort will be made to take a vote on its ratification. It is argued that this can be done without detriment to the public interests. The Executive Department is anxious that Minister Schenck shall have in his possession a copy of the ratified treaty previous to his departure for London on Wednesday next. Of its ratification there can now be no doubt.

There being some apprehension in the minds of Senators as to the course pursued in Great Britain with reference to the treaty, one of them applied for information to Earl DeGrey, who said that treaties in that country were ratified by the Crown, and that that ratification cannot be violated or set aside by Parliament before whom treaties are laid for their information. Therefore the treaty of Washington, after having been ratified by the Senate of this country and the Crown of England, even though Parliament should be opposed to it, will have the full force and effect intended by its terms.

SECRETARY SEWARD'S JOURNEY ACROSS INDIA.—Seward and his two daughters (adopted daughters, I believe) left Calcutta on the 13th for Benares. They will also visit Allahabad, Agra, Delhi, and several other places on their way to Bombay, and will in all cases be met by the heads, or representatives of the heads, of Governments. At Allahabad they will be the guests of the Lieutenant Governor of the Northwestern Provinces, at Bombay of the Governor of that Province. During the main part of his stay here Seward was the guest of the Governor General, and I believe that every means was taken to add to his comfort, and, apart from public displays, to do him honor. There was no display of any kind, but Seward was not any the less an honored guest of the Viceroy. He left Calcutta in a special carriage, placed by the Governor General at his disposal for the journey, to be cut off from the train where or when he pleases. Everything was quietly done, but I believe Seward was much gratified with his kindly, unostentatious welcome.

I told you last week that the honorable gentleman had brought a letter of introduction from Brigham Young to Lord Mayo, and what an excellent joke it was deemed by every one concerned. Especially this was the case when it was known that the Viceroy never had seen Brigham Young, or known anything of him beyond what his known publicly. Thus the whole affair became a puzzle. At last some one shrewder than the rest of the people suggested that the Prophet of the Salt Lake Territory must have taken Lord Mayo for Lord Milton, and supposed that the young nobleman who made the "North west passage by land" was the Queen's representative in India. Of course Seward would never think of crossing the American continent without visiting the city of the Saints, or King Brigham Young of suffering him to go away without letters of introduction—a perfectly fair procedure, too, since nobody crosses the American continent without first seeking an introduction to Brigham Young.—London Times.

The London Court Journal says that Napoleon has "assets" left on which he could easily borrow from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

THE CIVIL WAR IN FRANCE.

Further Progress of Versailles Forces.

NEW YORK, May 22.—A special correspondent at Versailles last night telegraphed particulars of the manner in which the Government forces entered Paris. Captain Trogs, of the navy, went from the trenches and ramparts at Pont du Jour and finding the insurgents had retired, called 300 sailors and took possession of the gate. Other troops followed, and before any one was aware the entry had commenced. Not a rifle was fired, nor a man wounded. The whole thing was unexpected. A white flag was hung out at Auteuil. Another brigade of Versailliats has entered Porte Montrouge, and troops are pouring down on both points. It is reported that the Arc de Triomphe has been reached and that the insurgents made but a slight resistance. The guns on the ramparts have been turned on the Communists.

Twenty thousand men are under Fort Issy and 40,000 moving on the open plain.

A telegram at 7 o'clock last evening says: This afternoon three squadrons of cavalry were received amid tremendous excitement. Mons. Henri and Fortune presented them with standards and they shouted, "We will defend them till death!" Soon after the awards Petite Vanves was evacuated, in order to shelter the troops in Montrouge.

Extraordinary rumors are afloat. It is reported that the Versailliats have been repulsed.

Mounted orderlies have just arrived at the War office with news that Col. Labonne, commanding Franc Tireurs, started immediately to attack the Versailliats in the flank.

Half of the Versailliats Army in Paris.

LONDON, May 22.—A special from Versailles says half the army is in Paris. Versailliats hold the gates of St. Cloud, Passy, Auteuil, Trocadero, Muette and the Arch Triumph. There is heavy firing in Elysee. Sixteen thousand Versailliats have entered Maugrand and Montrouge.

Paris Isolated.

VERSAILLES, May 22.—Paris is completely isolated by the Prussians. No news since midnight.

The Northern railway has been cut by the Prussians.

It is said that Dombrowski has been captured.

The bombardment of Paris continues. Eighty thousand Versailliats have entered the city.

A sharp cannonade was heard, doubtless against the barricades of the Arch Triumph.

Six hundred prisoners were captured last night and four hundred arrested at Issy.

Victory of the Government Confirmed.

VERSAILLES, May 22.—Dombrowski is surrounded at Steuen.

NEW YORK, May 22.—Versailles despatches says latest partizans from Paris confirm the victory of the Government.

The 82d and 104th regiments of the line which were first to enter Paris by Port de St. Cloud, took up a position last evening within rifle range of Arc de Triomphe, on the city side of which and beneath the Arch, were all manner of obstructions in the shape of barricades. Meantime, on being apprised of the success which attended Gen. Douay's advance, gave orders for a general movement of the troops along the line in the direction of Forts Issy and Montrouge. Porte de Billancourt and Fort de Auteuil. The gates converging on Point de Jour were found deserted, and no resistance was met. A regiment of Chasseurs, in dashing up Boulevard Breune, met with a murderous volley of rifle shots from an ambuscade. Four light field pieces opened fire on the barricade, which was quickly demolished, and upon being charged and captured was found to have been deserted.

Later dispatches say the troops of McMahon are all moving this morning and pouring through Bois de Boulogne. Ten thousand men with 15 pieces of artillery are concentrated on Avenue de la Grande Armee, and are about to move in a direct line for the Arc de Triomphe. The barricades on three of the principal avenues leading towards Champs Elysees, are in the hands of the Versailliats.

Concentration among the Communists is represented as being very great. McMahon in person is superintendent of the operations. Enthusiasm of the troops is unbounded. A forward movement of the barricades begins at once.

WASHINGTON CITY.

The Treaty of Washington.

CHICAGO, May 21—Evening.—The Tribune Washington special says it is stated on the best authority that opponents of the treaty cannot muster more than a dozen votes against it. Several Democrats whose course has heretofore been considered doubtful are now set down as certain to vote for it. The vote on its final ratification, as heretofore stated, will be taken to-morrow, or Thursday at furthest.

Discussion of the treaty in Committee of the Whole has been of a general character, and confined mostly to members of the Committee on Foreign Relations, and Sumner, Trumbull and other Senators have not participated to any extent in the debate. Objections offered have been mostly to articles relating to the Alabama claims and the fisheries. Casserly took the ground that the whole treaty was a disgraceful compromise, both of national interests and honor, but his ultra views have met with no response from the Democratic side. Other Senators have found defects but not of such a character as to induce them to reject the treaty entirely. Advices received here by prominent Senators in regard to the way in which the treaty has been received in England are not very flattering. It is stated that it will be strenuously opposed, both in the Council and in Parliament, and if successful it will result in the overthrow of the present British Ministry.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—Messengers started this afternoon for Sacramento with the articles of incorporation of the California Pacific Railroad Eastern Extension, to build a railroad from Davisville, Yolo county, via Clear Lake and Christman Lake, Oregon and Southern Idaho, to Salt Lake and the junction with the Union Pacific Railroad; capital, $50,000,000. Trustees—Milton S. Latham, A. Gansel, agent of Rothschilds; E. H. Green, of London; I. Friedlander, W. H. Tillinghast, W. F. Rolleston, J. P. Jackson, Rudolphe Sulzbach, of Frankfort on-the-Main; Gen. John B. Frisbie, Julius May, and Eugene L. Sullivan.

The British Benevolent Society, who have their annual dinner on the Queen's birthday, Wednesday, will visit the steamship Moses Taylor, which sails that day for Australia, and partake of a collation on board by invitation of Mr. Webb.

The weather is fine and warm.

The United States steamer Saranac sailed for Victoria this afternoon, receiving a salute from Alcatraz as she went out.

There is a healthy increase in the demand for iron castings, applicable for mining, gas and water works. The Pacific Iron works have leased the foundry immediately adjoining them for the purpose of increasing their pipe casting facilities, and a large gasometer is being erected by the Metropolitan Gas Company, between Bryant and Brannan streets, near Ninth.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—The bids advertised for by Collector Phelps for the materials of the U. S. Marine Hospital, 96 by 152 feet on the ground, four stories high, building to be torn down and removed, were opened to day. There were only two, one for $400, and the other for $502. Both will probably be rejected. The original cost of the building was over a quarter of a million dollars.

In the trotting race at the Pacific Track, Alameda, nine horses started, viz: Lady Slasher, Mary Davis, Copperhead, Coleman, Sixby, Cassius M., Lady Thorne, Jenny Cutterfield, and Red Fisk. The heat was won by Copperhead in 2:42; 2d, Mary Davis, 2:40; 3d, Slasher, 2:42; 4th, dead heat Slasher and Mary Davis, time 2:40; 5th, Copperhead, 2:45; 6th, Copperhead, 2:52½. The purse was $1,000. Copperhead took $600, Mary Davis $300, Slasher $100. This is pronounced one of the best races ever trotted on the Pacific coast. To-morrow the big trot between Harvest Queen, Jno. F. McMahon, Lady Dooley, May-Fly, Dexter, Regulator, and Lady Signal will come off, for a purse of $5,000. The pools are selling briskly to-night, Harvest Queen being the favorite two to one, and others coming in as named. One of the pools ran up to $1,200, the last horse bringing $80; another is $1,100, and there are any number of them over $400.

GRASS VALLEY, May 22.—James Mullen and Pat Lanegan were sentenced by the County Court to four years' imprisonment each in the the penitentiary, having been convicted of highway robbery.

The Democratic primary election takes place next Saturday, and a warm contest between Findlay and Haight is now in progress.

Napoleon's Intrigues.

IMPORTANT REVELATIONS FROM THE VATICAN—DISPATCHES SENT TO ROME—HE PROMISES TO RESTORE THE TEMPORARY POWER—HOW THE WORK IS TO BE DONE—THE JESUIT FATHERS TO PREPARE FOR THE CATHOLIC CRUSADE—THIERS IN THE PLOT.

ROME, March 28.—The following remarkable statement appears in this day's republican journal, La Capitale, purporting to be a revelation from the Vatican. Without being in a position to vouch for the truth of any statements that appear in the above-named paper, there seems enough of probability about it to give it a certain amount of interest and importance.

Saturday last, the 25th, early in the morning, Father Beckx received a courier from France—(further on we shall have occasion to say who are the couriers of the Jesuits and the Vatican)—bearing two dispatches, one from Col. Charette, the other from Thiers. Charette states in his that he had come to an understanding with the ex-Emperor Napoleon regarding the restoration of the temporal power of the Pope. Napoleon himself confessed that the Gallican clergy had led him into error, and said that he was ready to give up all the papers he held compromising certain ecclesiastics noted for their Gallicanism, and especially the Archbishop Monsignor Darboy, in order that the Papal court might be enabled to take such measures against them as might be felt needful. The only condition of the Papal restoration to be this: That Pius IX. should embrace liberal views with respect to the temporal power; the advice of the Jesuit fathers being that advantage should be taken of the circumstance of the Ecumenical Council being still pending to obtain from that assembly an expression of a desire for reform, so that Pius IX. might appear to make concessions only to the wishes of the Catholic bishops. Charette promises to lead 50,000 men on to Paris to restore the Napoleonic government. He earnestly desires the Jesuits to open asylums throughout Italy in which zouaves and other volunteers of the Catholic crusade may be sheltered, so as to be ready at a given time, when the Roman question is matured, to burst out at once all over the peninsula. "Rest assured," concludes Colonel Charette, "that within three months' time Napoleon will be thrones once more in Paris."

The dispatch of M. Thiers is addressed to Charette. In this Thiers stated that he trusted entirely in him, and that in exchange for the good offices lent for the restoration of order he should be permitted to make his attempt to re-establish the temporal power of the Pope.

Father Beckx; on receipt of the above dispatches, hastened at once, ill as he is, to the Vatican, and in the afternoon a council was held in the Convent of the Gesu, at which two other fathers only were present—(three in all. It is a known fact that, according to the rule of the Jesuits, when affairs of deep importance are to be discussed, the council is only to consist of three individuals—the Father General and two others nominated for the purpose. Father Beckx having been suffering for some time from a dangerous illness, in apprehension of his death the two father-councillors have been resident here in Rome.

In this council of three Father Beckx, communicating the news he had received, said that God hereby evidently opened up a vista of lively hope for the restoration of the temporal power; but that on the other hand it could not be ignored that there was a dark cloud, being none other than the Protestant priest Becker, at Berlin, who is with the Prussian troops in France, and who preaches as true principles of Christianity, brotherhood, freedom, and above all the gospel and Protestantism, and opposes the attempts of the Jesuits with such ardor, faith, enthusiasm, and eloquence that the Vatican despairs of all hope of inducing Germany to endure the restoration of the temporal power.

Yesterday morning at 5 o'clock the courier left Rome with the reply of the Jesuit fathers.

The couriers of the Jesuits are the nuns of the Sacre Cœur, and they are bearers to and fro of the dispatches. The central post office is the Trinita de Monti. This does not however exclude the use made by the Jesuits of a certain De Sanctis, formerly an employe in the Passport office. It is scarcely necessary to add that the news which we here communicate to our readers is in perfect accordance with the Bonapartist attempts, with the letters Napoleon has been writing to win the hearts of his soldiers, about whom he has been writing to his marshals, that they may be recompensed in a manner regulated by the valor shown by them on the battle-field, as well as it is known that De Charette is altogether occupied in collecting troops for an attack upon Rome.

It would by no means be a surprise to any one should M. Thiers turn Bonapartist. He is still the author of the History of the consulate and the Empire.

Record of the Republican Party.

At the Republican State Convention recently held in Rhode Island, the first resolution passed sums up the record of what the party has accomplished, which is a noble monument of patriotism and loyalty to the free institutions of the country. No true Republican can read the following brief synopsis without feeling pride and having faith in his party;

Resolved, That we gladly renew our allegiance to the principles and policy of the Republican party, and we challenge the history of political organizations to parallel the record of its ten years of national rule.

A gigantic rebellion has been suppressed; armies of a million raised and disbanded; four millions of slaves set free; labor made free and honorable; free homesteads offered to all settlers; the Pacific Railroad built; universal liberty and equal civil and political rights for the first time secured by constitutional amendments; the States that broke their connection reconstructed and restored; taxation frequently reduced, the last reduction being eighty millions a year; the national debt greatly reduced, two hundred millions of the reduction taking place under the present administration, the national credit raised at home and abroad; the price of gold brought steadily downward; the revenues vigilantly collected and honestly disbursed; the perfect citizenship of all adopted citizens for the first time protected by settling the doctrine of expatriation; the Monroe doctrine vindicated in the case of the French invasion of Mexico; peace maintained and the national character kept in the highest respect throughout the world. We know no way of judging the future but by the past. The Republican party has never made a pledge to liberty and union which it has not redeemed. From beginning to end, it has met and overcome the desperate opposition of the Democratic party.

The foreign commerce of Boston, the Traveller says, is constantly increasing; nearly one hundred more vessels have arrived from foreign ports in 1871 than in the same time last year. The imports are several millions more. The fleet on the way to that port at the present time numbers nearly one hundred vessels, all loaded with valuable cargoes.

CURRENT NOTES.

The Louisville Ledger says that P. H. Leslie, the Democratic candidate for Governor of Kentucky, "during the war was politically ostracised because of his Democracy." This tells the whole story.

Gambetta, who, during a portion of the war between France and Germany was Minister of War, has been arrested by order of the Thiers Government. His particular offense is not named.

Tippoo Saib, the oldest elephant in this country, recently died in Indiana. He was about 66 years old, and was imported to this country from Asia about 30 years ago. He measured about 10 feet in height, and weighed nearly 10,000 pounds. His value was estimated at $12,000.

Caveats are being almost weekly filed in the Patent Office at Washington for improvements in machinery for using electricity as a motive power. An inventor has promised to take a ship across the Atlantic with the power evolved from a battery of a single cup. Already a two-horse power engine is in operation, run by a single cup battery, the expense being no more than the cost of keeping up a battery in a country telegraph office.

The question of the fisheries, which has been before the Joint High Commission, seems to be a difficult one to settle. The Legislature of New Brunswick protests against a settlement on the terms proposed in the treaty of Washington, as injurious to British Colonial interests. A d

The Daily Oregonian

TUESDAY MORNING, MAY 23 1871

The Treaty of Washington

The treaty of Washington is quite a long document In the preamble it states that Her Britannic Majesty has authorized the High Commissioners to express the regret of the British Government for the escape of the Alabama and other vessels of like character from British ports, and for the depredations caused by those vessels This will serve as a sort of balm for the feelings of those Americans who have been insisting on an apology from Great Britain The arbitrators to whom these claims are to be referred are to be named one each by the President of the United States, the Queen of England the President of the Swiss Confederation the King of Italy and the Emperor of Brazil Geneva, Switzerland, is named as the place for these arbitrators to meet As soon as possible after the organization of the tribunal, but within the space of six months after the ratifications of the treaty of Washington are exchanged, all the papers and documents are to be submitted It is provided that in deciding matters to be submitted to them the arbitrators shall be guided by the following rules, viz

First—A neutral government is bound to use due diligence to prevent the fitting out, arming or equipping, within its jurisdiction, of any vessel which there is reasonable ground to believe is intended to cruise or carry on war against a power with which it is at peace And also to use like diligence to prevent the departure of any vessel intended to cruise and carry on war as above such vessel having been adapted in whole or in part within such jurisdiction to warlike use.

Secondly—Not to permit or suffer either belligerent to make use of its ports or waters as the base of naval operations against the other, or for the purpose of removal or augmentation of military supplies, arms or the recruitment of men

Thirdly—To exercise due diligence on its own ports and waters, and to all persons within its jurisdiction to prevent any violation of the foregoing obligations and duties

The British Government declares, however, that it "cannot assent to these rules as a statement of principles of international law which were in force at the time the claims mentioned arose "but that in order to evince its desire of strengthening the friendly relations between the two countries, and of making satisfactory provision for the future, it agrees that in deciding the questions between the two countries, arising out of these claims, the arbitrators should assume that her Majesty's Government has undertaken to act upon the principles put forth in those rules between themselves in the future, and to bring them to the knowledge of other maritime powers, and to invite them to accede to them

It is to be within the province of the tribunal to determine as to each vessel separately, whether Great Britain has by any act or omission failed to fulfill any of the duties set forth in the three rules above laid down, and in case it shall be found that Great Britain has failed, the arbitrators are to proceed to award a sum in damages, the same to be paid to the Government of Great Britain within twelve months from the date of the award

That portion of the treaty which relates to the fisheries is quite long, and for readers here it would possess little interest The San Juan boundary dispute, as already announced, is to be referred to the arbitration of the Emperor of Germany

California Crops

Operators in grain in San Francisco have sent agents throughout California to make observations in regard to the grain crop The reports they give increased confidence somewhat, and this confidence appears to be the principal cause of the slight fall in the prices noted last week Close estimates from every part of the State indicate that the yield will furnish bread and seed, and leave a margin of 90,000 tons for export Ninety thousand tons is equal to 3,000,000 bushels This is only one fifth of the amount which would have been produced this season for export had the crop come up to the average yield The showing is something better than it was two or three weeks ago, yet the growth is in many sections really disastrous and large numbers who are in debt for their lands, stock and implements are ruined It is estimated that California farmers will realize about $1 60 per bushel for their wheat, after harvest

The Democracy of Connecticut were going right if Gov English were not counted in by means of the fraud put up in New Haven the 8th inst the Elm City Press, published in New Haven, makes a fool of itself in this or English has acted too hesitatingly, he will not be found wanting in this crisis He will never yield possession of State records to a mob, but will, in connection with his solemn oath, discharge all of his duties fearlessly and faithfully.

To attempt to prevent him will be dangerous to the health of those who may decide to do so. The State has a fine military organization We have Sheriffs in every county, who know their duty and will not hesitate to enforce it The home guard is composed of intelligent men who will not refuse to obey the orders of Governor English

This party never can learn that Democratic bluster and intimidation was effectually played out" when the great rebellion was suppressed.

A Democratic paper says that "Tammany is a bulwark of strength to the Democratic party No doubt of it. There cannot be the slightest doubt of it. For money is power, and Tammany is very rich. When New York City was handed over to the control of the present ring, on the 1st of January, 1866, the city and county debt was $42,265,000. It is now, according to Comptroller Connolly's own figures $82 057,000, being an increase of nearly a hundred per cent And Mr Boss Tweed modestly acknowledges himself worth, personally, in the neighborhood of twenty millions.

While our so-called Democratic papers which never evince a particle of discrimination in criticising the acts of the Administration, but oppose and condemn without judgment or reason, are denouncing the Washington treaty as a "shameful capitulation to Great Britain, many journals of the British Provinces are expressing great dissatisfaction with the treaty and pronouncing it altogether too favorable to American interests The Victoria Colonist in a long article manifests its chagrin and expresses its disapprobation Yet our Democratic party sees in this treaty a "surrender to England!"

The Oregon City Enterprise a few days ago said "When the Democratic party attempts to accept the situation as brought about by the Radicals, its usefulness will be at an end, and the people will have no need for it longer" Will the Enterprise now give us its views frankly upon the Vallandigham platform in which the "situation as brought about by the Radicals," including the constitutional amendments reconstruction and negro suffrage are accepted in emphatic language

Gen Sheridan on European Armies

At the annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac at Boston a few days ago several distinguished officers made brief speeches General Sheridan said during his absence he had seen nearly every army in Europe, and that there were none of them whose standard of excellence was higher than that of the Army of the Potomac during the last year of the war. It is understood that he will make an elaborate report of the European war, as witnessed by him, and the world is expected to form a valuable contribution to military literature General Sheridan recently passed through London when the American Register of that city spoke of him as follows

Now that the termination of the war has left this distinguished officer at liberty to express his sentiments, he communicates freely the results of his observations Although he bears testimony to the perfection of the German drill and the superiority of Gen Moltke's staff arrangements to those of every other army, he does not consider the German soldier either morally or physically better fighting material than the rank and file of our army All the pluck and steadiness displayed by the Germans, throughout the war were exhibited in an equal degree by our men as soon as they were got into a proper state of training. Panics then became just as rare with them This was the more remarkable from the fact that most of the officers were taken from civil life, and had comparatively little military education or experience while the German officers on the contrary, possess all the advantages their rigorous Landwehr system confers Neither was the General impressed with the excellence of either the needle gun or Chassepot as arms of precision He regards the American small arms as superior, not merely in range, but in simplicity and certainty As to the German artillery, we understand that he does not consider it more effective than that of the French The metal of the Krump guns is undoubtedly of good quality, but the principles of their construction offer no features of novelty It was the steadiness with which the German artillery was served, rather than any superiority of the guns themselves, that gave it the prestige which it obtained during the war

The St Louis Democrat recalls the energy with which the Democratic Party in 1850 and subsequently, insisted upon the constitutionality of the Fugitive Slave law, and, comparing that with the Ku Klux bill says "What Democratic journal then thought that States were annihilated, the Constitution defunct, depotism established, and the universe on the point of collapsing? But times have changed There is now no slavery—nothing but freedom—to be protected The slave has been atrociously freed and invested with citizenship, and now the additional crime is perpetrated of undertaking to maintain that freedom and that citizenship Hence Democratic woe over 'the dead Constitution' Hence one wild wail of jeremiade throughout the party of the Lost Cause These hypocritical lamentations have but one meaning They are an appeal to the people to reinvest the Democracy with power to serve the Southern plantation lord by degrading the freedmen to a servile caste. That also is the meaning of the similar Democratic outcry against the United States Supreme Court, than which nothing was more divine than when it sustained the Fugitive Slave law and promulgated the Dred Scott decision"

Mr Dennison says that a school Director cannot handle the funds, because the law forbids it The law, also, we believe, forbids stealing, but not a few persons have been known to steal, nevertheless

THE TERRITORIES

Corinne papers state that the Union Pacific directors have raised the tariff on freights.

Walla Walla county, W. T., alone pays more income tax than the entire Puget Sound country

The lumber trade at Puget Sound is improving A large number of vessels are now on the way to the Sound to load.

The population of Walla Walla, as returned by the City Assessor, is as follows Females, 201, males, 334, females under 18, 136, males under 21, 170, total, 951.

The railroad survey from Walla Walla to Walula shows that the proposed line of railroad will be 31½ miles in length The route is favorable, and the construction will be easy and the cost moderate

The Owyhee Avalanche learns that Vigilantes at Winnemucca, after running all the desperadoes out of the place one night lately, went on a big drunk over the good riddance and done a little mischief themselves

The Owyhee Avalanche learns from a private letter from Snake river that some of the placers are yielding handsomely Saltpetre mines have recently been discovered there, and promise to yield an abundant supply

An Olympia paper is laboring to induce landholders to offer lands to induce the N P R R Co to make Olympia the terminus It says We know whereof we speak, when we say that the Railroad Company will accept of nothing short of one half of the above lots on both sides of Budd's Inlet from our city front to deep water But time flies, and the golden opportunity will never be nearer its perihelion than now Then out with your money, citizens, and down with your "gravel" and sorrel!

Lord Brougham's Last Visit to the House of Commons —Never but once did Lord Brougham enter the House of Commons after he was raised to the peerage It was not many years before he died. He went, leaning on the arm of a friend, a well known officer of the House of Lords, who the aged peer had asked to escort him There was a curiosity in the old athlete to view the arena where he had so often struggled with and thrown his adversaries Within the door leading from the upper house, Lord Brougham gazed on the stirring scene for a minute or two, and then the tears welled up to his eyes, and he murmured to his friend, with deep emotion "Take me away! take me away! There is not a face here that I can recognize!" And he moved slowly along the passage back to the House of Lords, murmuring as he went, 'Dead, dead! All gone! all gone!' The great champion of that arena soon went the way those who had wrestled with him had already passed The promise of his bright boyhood was amply kept in his maturer years, and the memories of both will long be dear to all who reverence work above rank, and who hold that the aristocracy of intellect is superior to any degree in the peerage —Temple Bar

How to Keep a Situation —The following bit of good advice is from the Working Man and is worthy of the attention of all our readers

Lay it down as a foundation rule, that you will be faithful in that which is least Pick up loose nails bits of twine clean wrapping paper, and put them in their places Be ready to throw in an odd half hour or hour's time when it will be an accomodation, and don't seem to make a merit of it Do it heartily Though not a word be said, be sure your employer will make a note of it Make yourself indispensable to him and he will love many of the opposite kind before he will part with you

Those young men who watch the time to see the very second their working hour is up —who leave, no matter what state the work may be in, at precisely the instant—who calculate the extra amount they can slight their work, and yet not be reproved—who are lavish of their employer's goods, will always be the first to receive notice that times are dull, and their services are no longer required

The Southern Democrats.

FURTHER EVIDENCE OF THEIR UNWILLINGNESS TO ACCEPT THE SITUATION, AND YIELD TO THE WISHES OF THEIR NORTHERN ALLIES

Pursuing nearly the same line of argument as the New Orleans Times, whose position has been noted heretofore, the Montgomery (Ala) Mail denounces the attempt of Northern Democrats to dictate to the South and says

An insidious attempt was made in New York two years ago to bind the young Democratic Samson, and hand him over into the hands of Radical Philistines The New York World led in the movement as it also led in the attempt we have lately been denouncing We all remember the disastrous result of the World's first treason We all know how completely it swamped Mr Seymour and the hopes of the Democracy with him and those of us who live to see the ides of November 1872, will witness a similar catastrophe then if the same paper that betrayed the party in 1868 is permitted to lead it in 1872

Now, the only way in which that leadership can be averted, is not by adopting its suggestions and accepting it as the exponent of Democratic principles not by trudging blindly and uncomplainingly along behind it, but by boldly and manfully denouncing its counsels, when they begin to savor of Radicalism as it eat in the Democratic meal, and therefore treasonable to the true Democratic faith

Ever since the days of the war the Democratic party has been steadily gaining ground and its gains have been made upon principle Is there any good reason, therefore, to conclude at this late day that the gains that have so steadily marked the progress of the party will stop short at the very threshold of success? Why then should a doubtful and dangerous expedient be resorted to at the time of all others when it most becomes us to be unyielding? Have the leaders become drunken with the wine of anticipated success? Or, what is more likely, have the Radical bondholders bought the World for a price, and induced that able journal to do the devil's work in the livery of Heaven? It fooled us once That was its fault If it fools us again it will be our own"

The Chicago Post reports that a few evenings ago the tax collector of that city officially notified the Common Council that a special assessment of $2 200 had been made upon the grave of Hon Stephen A Douglas, to pay for certain lamp posts, curb stones and paving in the southern portions of the city, and the Courts having given judgment upon the special tax warrant, he should be compelled to proceed with the sale, unless the Council directed that the property be not sold

TUESDAY MORNING, MAY 23, 1871.

...ERANCE CONVENTION.—A call has ...issued by fifteen men, residing at Portland, ...lem, Albany, Jefferson, Harrisburg, Hillsboro, ...and other places in the Willamet valley, for a ...ntion of the temperance people of Oregon, ...to meet in State Convention at Salem, on Friday, ...16th, 1871. The call urges all Christian ...ecclesiastical bodies and temperance or...nizations, to send delegates, and upon all tem...perance men and women not connected with such ...organizations, to meet at such times and places ...as may best suit them, and choose delegates who ...will assist with their counsels and views. It re...marks that, it is a lamentable fact that the larger ...portion of our tax burden is the result of intem...perance, and that it peoples the receptacles for ...paupers at our capital and the various county ...seats; that it is vastly instrumental in burdening ...the State with the support of the insane of our ...asylums, and the poor and destitute in our several ...counties; that more than two-thirds of the cases ...on our criminal dockets in police, justice and cir...cuit courts arise, directly and indirectly, as it's ...effects; besides the capital worse than wasted in ...its support, the time that is lost, the homes that ...are desolated, the bright prospects that are blighted, ...the many citizens of our young State who are ...annually ruined, the drunken fights and ...brawls that disgrace our many communi...ties, and the powerful, yet pernicious, influence ...that this monster evil exerts in the enactment of ...the various laws upon our statute books—on the ...corruptions and rages of the people at large, and in ...the corruption of the ballot box; all these things ...are increasingly growing upon us, and each succeed...ing day, month and year becoming more fright...fully alarming and proportionately harder to ...check, even aside from the immense social ...and moral degeneracy to which it is continually ...giving rise, call upon the citizens of our State to ...arise in their might, and check the fearful riv...er, and as this evil will continue unless some...thing is done to stop it, and that promptly and ...earnestly.

...THERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.—Mr. M. ...Chief Engineer of the Northern Pa...Road Co., started for the East yesterday ...of the Columbia river, Boise and the ...Paul Railroad. It is understood that he ...has business connected with letting the cont... the 250 mile section to be built this year ...South. He will return here in about two ...We have reliable information that the ...for this road has proved entirely suc...far as all possible wants are concerned ...this year's operations, which contemplate the ... of 250 miles, the grading and bridge ...ing, etc., of 250 miles more on the Duluth ..., and the completion of 25 miles from Kalama ..., besides the operations of the examining ...surveying and locating parties in the field ...the whole route. The speedy building of ..., seems, therefore, to be wholly assured, ...it will be greatly for the Company's inter... it in the shortest possible time, we ...safely flatter ourselves that the trip from ...Puget Sound to Duluth and points ...can be made by the Northern Pacific ...as soon as the summer of 1874.

...NORTH AND SOUTH.—The Bulletin of ...morning says: "Messrs. Ladd & Tilton fre...ently receive letters from influential parties at ... asking information respecting Oregon. ...such letters received the past week, came ...from Brack E. Burke, Esq., attorney at law, ..., Georgia. Mr. Burke represents that ...are a large number of persons in his vicin... to try Oregon. Mr. Ladd has for... a large amount of statistical in..." Yesterday, we saw a letter from ..., Minnesota, in which numerous inqui... made about Oregon, principally in re... to its and the chances for taking up ... lands in either Oregon or Washing... The writer stated that a deputation of four ... had just started from Lake City for ..., Oregon, and that upon their return, if ... brought a good report of Oregon, there ... a general stampede from that part of ... to Oregon. He thought a good many ... come anyhow. The intensely cold weather ... is what's the matter with the people ... thern region.

...TELEGRAPH MAST.—The topmast of the ... pt pole" at the Boneyard has been taken ... for the purpose of raising a higher one. ... has proved that the stacking of the ... on either side of the river, permitted the ... to bend toward each other so much as to ... the safety of the wires suspended from ... tops, by contact with the masts of vessels ... under. The new topmast will be twenty-... but higher than the old one, or 187 feet ... When it is elevated to its place it will be ... with wire cable guys.

...O. S. N. Co.'s NEW STEAMER.—The ... hull built by the O. S. N. Co., at the ..., will be launched in a few days—as ... as the water shall get about two feet higher. ... will be in readiness about Wednesday ... Thursday. We were informed yesterday that ... house of the old Nez Perces Chief is to be ... the new steamer, remodeled, of course, to ... The Chief is now above the Cascades, but ... intended to bring her down in a few days.

...IMPROVEMENTS ON FIRST STREET.—Mr. Frank ... commenced yesterday to clear the quarter ... fronting on the west side of First and the ... of Washington sts., for the purpose ... a brick block, one hundred feet square. ... buildings now occupying the site will ... or torn down, and as soon as the ... is settled, the work of erecting the ... will be commenced.

...A CENTRAL RAILROAD.—The contracts ... of the first twenty mile section of the ... Central Railroad, will be let the present ... There are now two vessels nearly due with ... and it is intended to have the road bed ... for track laying as soon as the iron shall ...

...IMPROVEMENT MEETING.—There will be a tem... meeting this evening at Good Templars' ..., in Carter's building, corner of Alder and ..., exercises to commence at 8 o'clock. ... gentlemen will deliver short addresses. ... is cordially invited to attend.

...RISE.—The "June rise" having got nearly ... in the basement or cellar floors along the low... part of the city front, the occupants were ... active in the removal of goods to higher ... In a day or two more all the lower ... will have to be abandoned.

...SAILING OF STEAMERS POSTPONED.—The sail... of the steamers has been postponed as follows: ... John L. Stephens, to Wednesday at 7 P. M.; ... Geo. S. Wright, to Thursday the 25th; and ... California, for San Juan, Nanaimo and Sitka, ... afternoon at 7 o'clock.

...STEAMER.—Judge Sawyer went up the O. & C. ... yesterday, with Mr. Halsey and a few ..., to take a look at our interior.

...Major M. P. Berry is in the city en route to ... in charge of the Ft. Hall Indian Agency.

...SUMMER GRADING.—The June rise having ... the grading of Second street, East ..., the gravel trains of the railroad com... have again been put to the work of filling ... the long trestle bridges.

...BOILER INSPECTION.—The boilers of the steamer ... were inspected yesterday by In... James Lotan, and a certificate will be ... her.

...ARRIVAL OF THE WRIGHT.—The N. P. T. Co's ... Geo. S. Wright, arrived last evening ... Puget Sound.

...—There is a message at the Western ... Telegraph office for Mrs. Wm. Ralph.

AMUSEMENTS.

MILITARY AND CIVIC BALL.—The Emmet Guard will give a military and civic ball at their Armory to-morrow evening. The affair will be under the management of Capt. Cahalin, Lieut. Coakley and Messrs. Phil. Saunders, T. Molloy, John Storan and N. O'Neil.

BASE BALL.—The Olympic Club meets for practice, on their grounds, every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

PARLOR SKATING.—Another large attendance of skaters at the rink last evening. To-night the band will enliven the sport with music.

THE CANCUS.—Everything is being placed in readiness for the opening of the season Thursday evening. The proprietors have fitted up a platform on which chairs can be placed for ladies—an arrangement greatly conducive to comfort. These seats will be reserved, on application at the pavilion, at a charge of twenty-five cents extra.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Dean, Bros. & Fisher, whose card appears in another column, are offering some choice property in the city and country. They pay particular attention to business of parties abroad.

Messrs. Anders & Rowe, grocers, corner Washington and Fourth streets, announce their opening to-day—this firm has one of the neatest establishments in the city.

The attention of our readers is called to the new card of W. Carter & Co. It will be observed that they have all the fashionable styles of clothing and furnishing goods. Prices have been reduced. This firm has the agency for Ballou's French Yoke Shirts.

DEATH AND INQUEST.—The following is the report of a Coroner's jury held on the body of a person found dead at the residence of Mr. Loesser, in Clark county, W. T., on the 20th inst.: "We the Coroner's jurors, summoned to hold an inquest on the body of a person found dead at the residence of Mr. Loesser, in Clark county, W. T., do find that her name was Julia Pate, and it aged about 29 years; immigrated from Indiana about five months ago; was a widow; had been living mostly in Portland, Oregon; that she came to Vancouver on the morning of the 19th of May and hired David Baldwin to convey her to Government Island where her sister, Mrs. Baker, lives, and as she could not get across to the Island that morning she asked to stay and did stay all night at Mr. Loesser's residence. She complained of having chills, and did take some medicine, and went bed. Not getting up at the usual time, about 4 o'clock P. M., on the 20th, Charles Esek did force open her bedroom window, and found her dead. Which we think was caused by congestion of the lungs.

GROWING DOWN STREAM.—We observe that at East Portland as well as on this side of the river, the growth of the town is down stream. Lately quite a number of dwellings have been erected along Third and Fourth streets nearly as far down as the deep canyon, making quite a noticeable group. The location of the railroad depot and the prospect that the first heavy trading houses will be located near it, have much to do, doubtless, in stimulating improvements at the lower end of the respective town sites. We observe that parties intending to build this summer on Holladay's and McMillan's additions, are getting lumber on the ground, and clearing for foundations. Several fine residences are to be erected this season in the latter two tracts.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—A young man named Mike Quinn attempted suicide shortly after 12 o'clock this morning, at the Rose House, by cutting his throat with his pocket knife. Dr. Ryan being called, sewed up the wound, which will probably not prove fatal.

THE STEAMER JOHN L. STEPHENS.—This steamer was telegraphed at 8 o'clock, last evening, but up to the hour of going to press, she had not arrived.

BRIDGE CONTRACT.—The bids for building the Fourth street bridge at East Portland were opened yesterday and the contract awarded to Abbott & Co. The bridge is to be 400 feet long, 50 feet high at the highest point, and 36 feet wide, with a 24 feet roadway and 6 feet sidewalks.

DUST ASHORE.—B. L. Stone has just received a large supply of Gold and Silver Watches of all the best patterns made. Also, Gold and Silver Chains for Ladies and Gents and elegant Opera Chains.

Also, a large assortment of the finest Jewelry and Precious Stones, Gold Headed Canes, a large lot of Spectacles, Plate and Silver Ware, and all kinds of Clocks. Mr. Stone is satisfied with quick sales and small profits.

Look at the price of Clothing at the store of Kohn & Fishel. Examine the superior quality of their Goods and you will be convinced they are worthy of your patronage. They will sell you a splendid Dress Suit, black or blue, for $25. An A 1 Cass. Business suit for $17 50. First class Blue or Black Beaver Suit for $25, and some cheaper. Summer Goods, such as Cheviot, Tweed, White Marseilles, Plain and Linen Suits at extreme low prices. PLANTATION BITTERS is the oldest prepared tonic in the world. It was well known in the West India Islands sixty years ago. It was then prepared and sold by one Pedro Mortell, who inherited it from his father; so that it is safe to date its origin back at least one hundred years. The components of which it is composed are precisely the same, save that the present proprietors have added thereto Calisaya or King's Bark, known the world over as possessing the most beneficial tonic properties of any that a kind Providence has provided us.

The Household Tonic.

The efficacy of Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters as a specific for recruiting the enfeebled body and cheering the despondent mind has passed into a proverb. In the United States, where this marvellous tonic has borne down all opposition and eclipsed all rivalry, the demand for it has annually increased in a heavier and heavier ratio for years, until at last, the regular sales of this preparation exceed those of all other stomachics combined. Eminent members of the medical profession and hospital surgeons without number, have candidly admitted that the pharmacopœia of the faculty contains no prescription that produces such beneficial effects in dyspepsia, general debility and nervous diseases, as Hostetter's Bitters. To use the language of a venerable physician of New York: "The Bitters are the purest stimulant and the safest tonic we have. But the uses of the great vegetable antidote are much more comprehensive than such praise would imply. As a preparatory antidote to epidemic disease, a genial stimulant, a promoter of constitutional vigor, an appetizer, a stomachic, and a remedy for nervous debility, no medicinal preparation has ever attained the reputation of Hostetter's Bitters. It is the household tonic of the American people, and in all human probability will be so for centuries to come. The magnates of science recognize its merits, and it is emphatically the medicine of the masses, is proved by its fast and ever increasing sales.

ANONYMOUS PAMPHLET ATTRIBUTED TO NAPOLEON III.—REVIEW OF THE PRUSSIAN SYSTEM AND SUGGESTIONS FOR FRANCE

[From the London Times, April 1.]

An anonymous pamphlet, attributed to the Emperor Napoleon, has just been published at Wilhelmshohe. It bears the title "Note sur l'Organisation Militaire de la Confederation de l'Allemagne du Nord, Janvier, 1871," and contains an accurate account of the military institutions of Germany. In addition to this there are a few prefatory remarks explaining the superiority of the Prussian system and recommending certain improvements on the same pattern to be made in France. The following is the introduction to this remarkable brochure:

"Misfortune is a stern but able mistress. She frequently teaches us lessons which, owing to the force of habit and the usual short sightedness of man, is neglected in days of easy prosperity. Only when fatal experience has opened our eyes are we willing to listen to the voice of reason, and to notice the progress made by neighbors. Before the unfortunate campaign of 1870, the French sighted the opinion of those who thought that our military strength was inadequate to maintain our political position. People in France were in the habit of denying the advantages of the Prussian organization, which consists in universal conscription, a numerous and serviceable reserve, and the custom of forming corps d'armees according to the territorial division of the State. Before the same campaign the French Artillery Committee would not admit that the Prussian cannon were superior to our own, and that effective than any that we had to them. The Engineer Committee denied that we could not have too many fortresses and that those we possessed were competent to resist the attack of modern armies.

The same Committee objected to the proposal to raze one-half our fortresses and to rebuild the remaining half on the system which has made Antwerp one of the strongest places in the world. It required the melancholy events we have witnessed to convince an eminent engineer officer, Gen. Doguereau, to declare before a Council of War, without the assistance of the entire army, Marshal Bazaine Metz could not resist a lengthened siege. Again, before the astonishing campaign of 1870, our military administration authorities would not entertain the idea of dividing the country into military districts, providing each with the full materiel necessary for taking the field. In view of such facts, it is a matter of the greatest moment to inquire into the deficiencies of our organization, and ascertain where improvements may be introduced. The best means of bringing out our shortcomings is to explain the Prussian system, which in sixty years old has been continually improving. To do this the object of the present inquiry. A Government ought to arm at having as many soldiers as possible under arms in time of peace, and increasing them to the maximum on the breaking out of war. To fulfill these two demands it is necessary to levy the largest possible number, but to keep them under the colors only as long as required to fit them for their duties. This leads inevitably to universal conscription, for although, to save money, a portion of the able bodied men may be left undrafted every year, it is only just that they should be liable, and that every one should serve his country in the hour of danger. The principle is universal conscription which satisfies the demand of equality. The poor man, whose heart for equality. The poor man, whose life is as much the rich is subject to the same law, himself willingly submits to what he likewise consider a severe dispensation. The like morale of the army is improved by Landwehr society being represented in its ranks, whereby honor and discipline being maintained in a large part of the nation it follows that the only education imparted must have a favorable influence upon the destinies of the country. The Prussian army is a national army, every able bodied man learns the use of arms and acquires the habit of doing his duty. The young man called into the ranks is not only instructed in the details of the drill but also learns to appreciate the duty of fidelity to the King, and devotion to the country. An army consisting of the flower of the nation instead of mercenaries, raised up on the principle of universal service, is by no means opposed to the intelligence of the citizen is the greatest protection any State. Such an army is not placed in a vessel to enable it to withstand the storm. Such an army is formed on very different basis to that we have adopted after and in consequence of the many revolutions we have passed through, so many Frenchmen that they follow implicitly their Commander in Chief. Country is only a pretext for breaking faith, skepticism and perjury. In a monarchy the sovereign is necessarily the Commander in Chief and, representing, as he does the nation, has a right to exact obedience from every soldier. Without the recognition of this principle there is neither discipline, military rank, nor social order. Moltke was right when he said that the strength of institutions are established by many centuries, and consequently is formed by those very institutions. There are few more interesting subjects than those which have for their object a certain the influence of wise laws carried out upon the progress of nations, and the best means of conducting this inquiry is by studying the laws which made a small people great."

We have now to adapt the Prussian system to the Emperor then makes the following propositions:

1 France to be divided into fourteen provinces, each to furnish a corps d'armee, to be exclusively recruited from that province.

2 Conscription to be made universal, subject to the exceptions admitted in Prussia.

3 The active service in the army to last from the twentieth to the twenty fourth year; service in the reserve from the twenty fourth to the twenty eighth year, service in the militia from the twenty eighth to the thirty-third year.

4 Educated men to be admitted as volunteers to serve one year only in the line.

5 These volunteers to be eligible as officers in the militia, after passing the necessary examinations.

6 Organization of the staff according to the Prussian model (which supersedes seniority by personal merit).

7 The establishment of a military school on the Berlin Military Academy.

"All we ought to acquire the strict discipline, the unceasing activity, and the well-regulated respect for authority prevailing in the German army. Our fathers possessed these qualities, and we have inherited them. If they have momentarily disappeared in the vortex of so many revolutions, misfortunes, with their invigorating lessons, will cause them to revive. The example laid down by the Emperor is worthy of the well known Prussian character. Whether the French will submit to the lesson remains to be seen. In Prussia it required the severe experience of three warlike centuries and the inbred sobriety of the race to render it acceptable."

American Arms

THE REMINGTON MANUFACTORY AT ILION NEW YORK.—SUPERIORITY OF AMERICAN ARMS.

[From the New York Tribune.]

In September last the Provisional Government of France, in view of the facts that field losses and successive surrenders of strong places had well nigh exhausted the supply of guns for the army, and that the chassepot as a service arm, had come to be regarded as a failure, concluded a negotiation with Mr. S. Remington, the head of the great private armory at Ilion, in this State. The first contract was for 50 000 stand, of the approved caliber of 11 millimeters, or 0 43 of an inch. While in progress of completion a second contract was awarded for 70,000 and at the same time purchases were made of smaller lots that could be diverted to the necessity of France from engagements previously made with other nations. On Saturday the 22d of April the Transatlantic Company's steamer Perere outward bound, bore the last installment of the French orders, being 15 700 stand. The aggregate of service rifles manufactured and shipped to France by the Remington Company since the 21st of September reaches the extraordinary total of 154,120. Adding to this 19 777 carbines and 40 350 army revolvers, the number of their own arms furnished to France by the Remingtons is 214 247. Big-dress which seem to justify the assertion of the London Times, in an article deploring the petty organization and inadequate resources of the British small arms manufacture that one American establishment possessed a larger capacity for production than those of all England combined.

The recent adoption of the Martini Henry breech-loader as the British Service Arm, has elicited the fact, that, with her present capabilities of manufacture, England can turn out the 300,000 stand, which is accounted the proper complement for her regular army, in four years. No circumstance could illustrate better than this the relative superiority of the small arms industry of the United States. The Remington establishment at Ilion is by no means the only one in our country possessed of a productive capacity unknown to British industry. Hardly less extensive than the Remington in scope of operation, is the great Hartford Company, founded by Col. Sam Colt. In the superb armory of this Company, a structure actually unique in the perfection of its adaptedness, are fabricated not merely the Berdan breech loading rifle and the well-known revolving pistol, but whatever style of small ordinance may be required, from a Gatling battery down to a Derringer. The Providence Tool Company, the Brown Manufacturing Company of Newburyport severally producers of the Peabody and the Van Choate breech loading rifles, the two Sharps establishments of Philadelphia and Hartford, the Smith & Wesson of Springfield which is now executing an order of 20,000 army revolvers for Russia, and the Winchester of New Haven, manufacturing the eighteen shot repeating rifle, are all organizations unequaled by any in England. But the Remington, whose facilities, crowding four acres of brick and mortar employing from 1,300 to 1,400 workmen—many of them of second generation of skilled artisans—paying out monthly $138,000 for labor, consuming annually from 6,000 to 10,000 tons of coal, contributing to the thrift and absorbing the products of a large rural district—have been in seven months adequate to the completion of more than 170,000 stand of rifles assuredly hold the first rank, not only in the United States but in the world. A record of this establishment from the date now more than forty years past, when its founder was earning reputation by the original production of his famous gun barrels to the present year, which has not infrequently under war pressure, witnessed, as the result of a day's operation the completion of 1,100 breech loaders would be a splendid chapter in the history of American manufacture. The following summary of its performance during the five years that have succeeded the lesson taught by the needle gun, in the Austro Prussian campaign will at least show the later triumphs which the men of Ilion have achieved.

The Remington breech loading rifle is now the regular service arm of France, Spain, Egypt, Denmark, Sweden and Greece. The number of stand furnished to France we have stated above. In 1867 Denmark originally contracted for 20,000, soon after repeated the order, with the addition of 2,000 carbines, and eventually under patents purchased from the company, entered upon the construction of the arm in her own shops. Sweden, about the same time, secured 10,000 rifles in this country with 20,000 systems for conversion of her old muskets, and, like her sister State, commenced work, under patents similarly purchased, upon 40,000 stand. Spain, from 1868 to the current year inclusive has become possessed of 60,500 rifles, of 43 calibre, for her regular army, beside 2 200 for the volunteers in Cuba, and 4,000 systems for conversion. Egypt, in two years, has ordered, first, 60,000, next 40 000, and, finally, 50 000 rifles. Greece, in 1869, contracted for 15,000, which are yet to be delivered; the latest customer Japan has but just commenced her patronage by four small purchases, each of 1,000 stand. The United States within the last twelve months adopted the Remington system for use in the navy; and in addition to the necessary complement of 12,000 rifles, which as well as a small number for army test, have been constructed at the Springfield Armory, a short time since purchased 5,000 carbines and 7,000 pistols of the Company's own manufacture.

Settling on Public Lands

[From the N. Y. Tribune.]

In general answer to many special inquiries, we state the following facts:

1 The larger portion of the unimproved, uncultivated soil of the United States, including nearly all that of the States of Nebraska, Nevada, and Oregon, as also of all the Territories, is still the property of the Federal Union, and is known as the Public Domain.

2 While much of this Domain is sterile, rocky, mountainous, and thus unfit for cultivation, a large proportion is fairly and excellent, including thousands of square miles which, being treeless and very thinly grassed, have been accounted desert, but which prove quite productive when reclaimed by irrigation.

3 As a general rule, any part of this Domain not already granted to or occupied by private owners is open to settlement by any one. He who "squats on a tract to which he has not title is regarded as holding it by preemption. He is of course liable to be, but seldom is, dispossessed by a bona fide purchaser.

4 The Government proffers a quarter section (160 acres) to any one who settles upon a tract to which no adverse title or claim exists, erects a habitation, and lives on it for five years. He has to pay for the papers and legal formalities required about $20 in all. This is called making a Homestead.

5 Congress has from time to time made extensive grants of land to States and companies in aid of the construction of Railroads through the public domain. These grants are usually of alternate sections (or square miles) for a certain distance on either side of the projected Railroad.

6 The alternate sections reserved by the Government are doubled in price, and he who settles on these and proceeds to acquire a home under the Homestead act is allowed but eighty instead of the usual one hundred and sixty acres.

7 The general price of the Public Land is $1 25 per acre, or $200 for 160 acres. The alternate sections reserved by the Government along the lines of Railroads are held at double price, or $2½ per acre.

8 The Railroad Companies generally charge more for their alternate sections, but, as the Government's land is held at $2½ per acre, and eighty acres of it may be acquired by settlement for less than $20, the Government's sections are likely to have the preference.

9 It is decidedly advisable that those who have means should buy their lands, either of the Government or the Railroads. If precludes all controversy as to the due performance of the Homestead requirements gives an instant and perfect title, and enables the owner to sell and convey or and come lease or rent without peril of creating an adverse title or invalidating his own.

10 College Scrip is extensively used in purchasing by those who wish to economize. Congress, ten years or more ago, granted to each State a quantum of Public lands proportioned to its representation in that body in aid of Education in Agriculture and the Useful Arts. College Scrip represents these grants and is generally procurable by settlers at $1 per acre. In large quantities, it is sold somewhat lower. A warrant or scrip calling for a quarter-section will buy 160 acres but it will not buy 80 acres of the reserved alternate sections along a line of railroad. Of those reserved sections 160 acres can be bought in one tract with $200 in cash and one 160 acres can be bought in one tract with $200 in cash and one 160 acre warrant or scrip. With this exception preemption can always use College Scrip in paying for Government (not Railroad Company's) lands but speculators who buy or hold scrip in large quantities are not allowed to locate more than three sections (or square miles) of that scrip in any one township. This is to prevent the monopolizing of large tracts by means of scrip. With cash any quantity may be purchased of Government at the foregoing rates.

11 No one can legally locate whether with cash or scrip a quarter section actually in the possession, by legal occupancy and residence, of a settler, though he has not paid and does not mean to pay for it. But this principle does not apply to the alternate sections granted to railroads, which do not recognize Pre-emptions.

12 A quarter section of Public Lands is not necessarily a regular quarter of some designated section, but may be made up of two eighths or four forties forming one compact body, though these were part of different quarter sections technically considered.

Such is the substance of the laws and regulations governing the acquisition of Public Lands by individuals as we understand them. We trust this compilation answers most of the questions addressed to us, whereto we are unable to give special replies.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—Flour—City brands are nominally held at $5 25@5 50 for extra, though it is notorious that good grades of extra from both Oregon and interior California mills, can be had in lots to suit at $5 75@5 85. There is no activity and the undertone of the market is decidedly weak.

Wheat—There are no sales to report; nominal range $2 10@2 85.

Barley—Market very much demoralized and buyers are afraid to take hold even at $1 80@2.

Oats—Hard to get, though nominally quoted at $2 15@2 55.

Hay—Quotable at $15@21.

Potatoes—There is but little demand for old; sales 300 sks new crop, this morning at $2 25@2 50 per 100 lbs.

Wool—Market continues fairly active, especially for choice clips.
